

Dochter & Alexander x Madison Ave Consulting Retail leasing reinvented on Salesforce

Dochter & Alexander is a commercial real estate advisor focused on retail leasing. They partnered with Madison Ave Consulting for a full Salesforce implementation that captures the unique workflow of a CRE brokerage.

THE CHALLENGE

Retail brokerage is not generic CRE

Unique Data Model

Retail leasing has its own data model and deal flow. Generic configurations fall short from day one.

Branded Market Reports

Brokers need fast, branded market reports ready for every client conversation. Speed matters.

Deal Phase Visibility

Process visibility across every phase of a deal is essential. Blind spots cost deals.

Built for Brokers

Generic CRM configurations do not reflect how retail brokers actually work. The tool has to fit the team.

THE SOLUTION

Two-phase Salesforce implementation

Madison Ave Consulting delivered a phased build that captured the full brokerage workflow.

Phase 1: Foundation

1 Custom Data Model

Built specifically for retail leasing and advisory deals. Not adapted. Built from scratch.

2 Process Alignment

Documentation and configuration aligned to how brokers actually operate day to day.

Phase 2: Automation

1 Market Report Automation

Reports pull directly from Salesforce data. Always current. Always accurate.

2 One-Click Delivery

Generate and deliver branded market reports to clients in a single click.

WHY IT WORKS

Built around the broker. Not the other way around.

Brokers do not want to learn a new CRM. They want one that mirrors how they already think about their deals. Our approach was to build the platform around their existing process and expand from there.
