

CASE STUDY

Dochter & Alexander x Madison Ave Consulting

Retail leasing reinvented on Salesforce.

Dochter & Alexander is a commercial real estate advisor focused on retail leasing.

They partnered with Madison Ave Consulting for a full Salesforce implementation that captures the unique workflow of a CRE brokerage.

Industry

Commercial Real Estate

Platform

Salesforce CRM

A man in a suit and glasses is looking at a laptop screen. The background is a dark blue gradient with a faint image of the man and some office equipment like a coffee cup and a laptop.

THE CHALLENGE

Retail brokerage is not generic CRE

Off-the-shelf CRM configurations miss the mark. Retail leasing demands its own data model, its own deal flow, and its own tools.

Unique Data Model

Retail leasing has its own data structure and deal flow that generic CRE platforms ignore.

Branded Market Reports

Brokers need fast, polished market reports ready for every client conversation.

Process Visibility

Full visibility across every phase of a deal is essential. Not optional.

CRM That Fits

Generic configurations do not reflect how retail brokers actually work.

THE SOLUTION

Two-phase Salesforce implementation

Madison Ave Consulting delivered a phased build that captured the full brokerage workflow from day one.

Custom Data Model

Built for retail leasing and advisory deals. Not adapted. Built from scratch.

Process Configuration

Documentation and configuration aligned to how brokers actually operate.

Report Automation

Market reports pull directly from Salesforce. One click. Delivered to clients instantly.

WHY IT WORKS

Built around the broker. Not the other way around.

Brokers do not want to learn a new CRM. They want one that mirrors how they already think about their deals.

Our approach was to build the platform around their existing process and expand from there. The result is a system brokers actually use.

Mirror the Process

Platform built around existing broker workflows.

Then Expand

Scale and optimize once the foundation fits.

Madison Ave Consulting | Salesforce excellence for commercial real estate