

CASE STUDY

JACO Aerospace x Madison Ave Consulting

Manufacturing meets the Salesforce platform

JACO Aerospace is a precision manufacturing supplier to the aerospace industry. They needed a Salesforce environment that reflected how a modern manufacturer actually operates, from order to delivery.

The background of the entire slide is a technical drawing of a mechanical part, likely an aircraft component. It features various dimensions, tolerances, and callouts. Notable elements include a dimension of 21.9, a radius R0.3, a radius R19, a tolerance of 0.02 B, a hole specification of Ø10 H7 (+0.015), and a material specification of Stainless Steel. The drawing is rendered in a light blue color on a dark blue background.

THE CHALLENGE

Aerospace manufacturing is specialized

Custom Workflows

Order management required precision manufacturing workflows that off-the-shelf tools could not support.

Document Integrity

Document control and version integrity are safety-critical. No margin for error.

Shared Visibility

Sales and production teams needed a single source of truth across the operation.

Disconnected Tools

Existing systems did not connect the dots. Data lived in silos.

THE SOLUTION

Salesforce as the operational backbone

Madison Ave Consulting delivered a custom Salesforce build tailored to JACO's needs.

Custom Order Management

Built on the Salesforce platform for precision manufacturing workflows.

Custom Kanban

Production visibility across the shop floor in real time.

OneDrive Integration

Document and specification management with version control.

Marketing Platform

Sales outreach campaigns built directly into the platform.

Admin on Demand

Ongoing engagement for continuous platform evolution.

WHY SALESFORCE FOR MANUFACTURING

One platform. Every operation.

The Salesforce platform is not just for sales teams. With the right architecture, it becomes the operational backbone of a manufacturing company.

- Quoting and Ordering
- Production Visibility
- Document Control
- Customer Relationships

All connected. All in one place.

Madison Ave
Consulting delivers
Salesforce excellence for manufacturing.

