

CASE STUDY

Dochter & Alexander x Madison Ave Consulting Retail leasing reinvented on Salesforce

Dochter & Alexander is a commercial real estate advisor focused on retail leasing. They partnered with Madison Ave Consulting for a full Salesforce implementation that captures the unique workflow of a CRE brokerage.

THE CHALLENGE

Retail brokerage is not generic CRE

Unique Data Model

Retail leasing has its own data model and deal flow. Generic CRM configurations do not reflect how retail brokers actually work.

Branded Market Reports

Brokers need fast, branded market reports for every client conversation. Speed and presentation matter.

Process Visibility

Visibility across every phase of a deal is essential. Brokers cannot afford blind spots in their pipeline.

THE SOLUTION

Two-phase Salesforce implementation

Madison Ave Consulting delivered a phased build that captured the full brokerage workflow.

Custom Data Model

Built for retail leasing and advisory deals from the ground up.

Process Alignment

Documentation and configuration aligned to how brokers actually operate.

Report Automation

Market Report automation pulls directly from Salesforce data in real time.

One-Click Delivery

Generate and deliver polished market reports to clients instantly.

WHY IT WORKS

Built around the broker. Not the other way around.

Brokers do not want to learn a new CRM. They want one that mirrors how they already think about their deals.

Our approach was to build the platform around their existing process and expand from there.

Build the platform around their process. Then expand.

Salesforce excellence for commercial real estate

Madison Ave Consulting partners with CRE firms to deliver implementations that actually fit the way brokers work.

- Retail leasing expertise
- Process-first configuration
- Automation that saves time

madison ave
CONSULTING